A good subcarrier is not one that moves more — it is one that hears the same motion over less noise